

If this proposal is implemented, it should not preempt any existing state law that is more stringent. Under Indiana's current law, my nuisance-call volume has dropped from over 20 per week to 2 or 3. I do not want every business I have ever associated with to have the freedom to harass me via telephone.